Cellmyx is committed to advancing the art of aesthetic and regenerative injectables. We design, patent, and manufacture proprietary medical products for the harvesting, processing, and deployment of FDA 361 compliant autologous soft tissue. intelliFat™ SVT is a new iteration of our popular intelliFat™ kit that enables physicians to quickly and efficiently transfer the patient's own micro-adipose tissue under local anesthesia for regenerative procedures. All in a single use, disposable kit. intelliFat™ SVT features our new SuperG® Milli Plus harvester for a faster harvest via syringe and our new intelliHub™ making a sturdier and more secure luer connection. Quickly harvest, process, and transfer a clean and viable micro fragmented fat, what we term as stromal vascular tissue (SVT). intelliFat™ SVT kit makes low volume regenerative procedures fast, safe, simple, and cost effective.

MaxGen Labs is a private genetic testing company focused on optimizing nutritional outcomes for your patients. A quick, non-invasive cheek swab can give you valuable information to create personalized care plans, complete with vitamin and IV protocols. Ideal for regenerative and integrated medicine practices, genetic testing can provide information about detoxification pathways, hormone and neurotransmitter activity, and inflammatory conditions. The clinician-driven genetic reports from MaxGen Labs have been called “the missing piece of regenerative medicine” by multiple doctors. MaxGen Labs helps you take the guesswork out of patient care and increases compliance. Sign up for a healthcare practitioner account today to get started.
